

Joseph V. Gallagher

Joe has built successful companies in the radio, internet radio, local online, and tower industries. With an emphasis on complicated and difficult transactions, Joe has also acquired, turned around, and sold numerous properties, creating significant value.

As a founder and Managing Director of Angel Street Capital, and working independently, Joe has invested in and worked with more than 30 companies in the digital media space, assisting with strategy, M&A, and business development.

Joe currently sits on the boards of Sharetown, Inc. a tech as a service company serving the return/re-commerce space, Frequency, an audio ad, workflow and management platform and Drive Time Metrics, a media data analytics company focused on entertainment data from the car.

Joe graduated with a BA from Georgetown University with majors in Classics, and English.

Joe is based in Newport RI, and Eleuthera, Bahamas.