Robert J. Maccini

Prior to forming Angell Street, Bob was a founder and CEO of Ando Media, LLC ("Ando"). Founded as a startup in 2004, Ando Media became the leading provider of audience information and ad serving in the Internet radio industry – providing services to 45 of the top 50 radio broadcasters in the U.S. In 2009 Ando was sold to Triton Digital Media. Prior to sale, Ando was operated and funded by Aritaur Communications, Inc. ("Aritaur") a holding company for a number of media and internet ventures. In 1995, Bob invested in Aritaur which had been previously formed by Mr. Gallagher. Ando was originally formed to provide services to Net Radio Sales ("NRS"), another entity founded and funded by Aritaur. NRS provided advertising representation services to Internet radio stations. After achieving representation of some of the largest audio streaming brands NRS was sold to Katz Media Group (owned by iHeart) in 2007. Initially Aritaur was formed to own and operate radio stations. After growing a portfolio of stations in New England, all of the stations were sold in 1998 except for WMVY-FM, Martha's Vineyard (www.mvyradio.com). WMVY was one of the original streaming stations and the impetus for forming NRS and Ando. Aritaur also created and funded a number of other media related businesses including Martha's Vineyard Online (www.mvol.com), the top ranked (by Google) online guide to Martha's Vineyard which was sold to the Vineyard Gazette Media Group.

Recognizing the explosion in wireless voice and data communications Mr. Maccini and Mr. Gallagher founded Tower Ventures, Inc. ("TVI") in 1997. TVI developed communication towers throughout New England before selling the tower portfolio to American Tower Corporation (NYSE:AMT) in 2000. Immediately after the sale a new tower company, Tower Ventures II, LLC, was formed to continue developing tower sites. This company was sold to National Grid PLC (NYSE:NGG) in 2004.

Bob was also a founding stockholder and Director of Media Services Group, Inc. (Media Services), which specializes in acquisitions, valuations, financing, and consulting to the broadcasting, cable television, and tower industries. Founded in 1990, Media Services grew to become one of the country's largest media brokerage firms. Maccini has sold, appraised and analyzed radio, television, cable television systems, and communication towers worth in excess of $2 billion for owners, buyers, sellers, the Internal Revenue Service and financial institutions. Many of these assignments resulted in Maccini being accepted as an expert witness by various courts throughout the U.S. Mr. Maccini on numerous occasions has been appointed by Federal and State courts to act as a receiver or trustee of radio and cable television systems where he operated the entities and eventually sold the properties.

In 2014 Bob and Joe founded Drive Time Metrics, Inc. ("DTM") to obtain listening data from vehicles as to audio source was being consumed. DTM has been awarded six patents for the method of collecting, storing and utilizing this data.

Bob commenced his career and was Vice President and Manager of the Communications Lending Group at Old Stone Bank (OSB), a $4 billion Federal Savings Bank in Providence, RI. Bob joined OSB in 1983 and oversaw the bank's communications lending division providing financing to the cable television, radio, and publishing industries. Bob also directed investments in radio and cable television companies for Old Stone Capital Corporation, a small business investment company and subsidiary of Old Stone Corporation.

Bob for seven years served as a Director of Saga Communications, Inc., a publicly traded broadcasting company that owns over 90 stations in the U.S. (NYSE: SGA) and GAP Broadcasting, LLC which owned over 100 stations and formed the core of what is today Townsquare Media (NYSE: TSQ). Bob is currently a Director and serves on the Executive Committee and Investment Committee of the Slater Technology Fund.

Bob holds a B.A. in Economics from the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester, MA and an M.B.A. in Finance from Babson College, Wellesley, MA.
